C 367734 ***

Harte, Walter

828 H329e 1735

AN

E S S A Y

O N

REASON.

Cælestis Rationis opus deducere mundo
Aggredior — Manil. Lib. 1.

The SECOND EDITION.

L O N D O N:

Printed by J. Wright for LAWTON GILLIVER at Homer's Head against St. Dunstan's Church in Fleetstreet, M.DCC.XXXV. Price 1 s.

828 H329

THE ## CONTENTS.

REASON coeval with God, &c. Verse 1 to 6.
Transsused into Adam; Its particular Nature and Operations in the Paradisaical State, V. 7 to 52.

How impaired by the Fall, V. 53 to 62.

The Objection (V. 63 to 70) Why Adam in a purely rational State, shou'd be judged by a positive Law, casually obviated; and the Expediency of such a Law demonstrably proved, V. 71 to 115.

The Fall actual, but not minutely explicable, V. 116 to 122.

Depravation from thence real, yet no real Injury to us, V.

123 to 136.

Next follows, a True State of the Nature of Reason, as Man now is. Its Extent, Bounds, proper Sphere, Exertion, Perfection, &c. V. 135 to 208.

Reason every Man's Duty, &c. V. 209 to 236.

Its Procession, or Progress from the first perception to its height, V. 237 to 258.

Its Character (in an objective Sense) as Reason or Truth in general, V. 229 &c.

Hence is obviated an Error in Deifm, of taking human Reason for the abstracted, or divine, V. 265 &c.

Next is also shewn, how Revelation particularly affists Reason, and that 'tis no more an Injury or Force than moral Obligation, V. 285 to 294.

An Objection of the Sceptics, viz. What Reason is, &c. proposed and answered, V. 295 to 308.

Author's

The CONTENTS.

Author's State of the Cafe. I, Reason as in God, V. 309 &c. II. As in Things, Actions, Morality, Arts, &c. V. 315 to 346. [Farther State and Reply to the Objection above, V. 295, &c. casually taken in here, V. 347 to 366.]

III. Reason as in Man. Its Persection in the abstracted Sense, and its Modes and Degrees of Persection and Impersection in the exerted Sense, V. 367, &c.

Its Perfection always proportionable to the Capacity and Application of the Agent, V. 379 to 416.

Human Nature confidered in the fame Lights as human Reafon, and proved to fland in the fame Need of Revelation, V. 417 to 432.

Neither one nor the other curbed hereby, but properly limited, and truly Affisted, V. 433 to 452.

Reason proved de facto, from the whole course of Antiquity, never to have done what the Deists imagine, but rather the contrary, V. 453 to 468.

The Antients never had a Religion purely without Politives, nor rould they (the Antients) allowing the Suppolition above, have done what Revelation did, V. 469, &c.

Were not Free-thinkers, in the Modern Sense of the Word,

V. 481, 8c.

Owed much, as well as the Moderns (tho' the latter will not own it) to Revelation, V. 489 to 506.

The Advantage of a Revelation in our present State, and Reafons a priori, why it shou'd take place, V. 507 to 548.

God's particular Goodness herein, V. 548, &c.

Expostulation with the Deists, V. 554, &c.

How one ought to act in such Circumstances, V. 563, &c.

A Prayer offered up to God on this occasion, wherein are exprest the Sentiments, conduct, and wishes of a truly reafonable Man, and a Christian both, V. 570 to 604, the End.

A N

E S S A Y

O N

REASON.

ROM Time's vast Length, eternal and unknown,

Effence of God, coeval Reason shone;*
Mark'd each recess of Providence and Fate,
Weighing the present, past, and suture state:
'Ere Earth to start from Nothing was decreed,
'Ere Man had sal'n, or God youchsaf'd to bleed!

Part of Herself in Eden's pair she saw, Where Virtue was but practice, Nature law:

DEUS, & RATIO quæ cuncta gubernat. Manil. L. 2.

В

Where

• Est quidem vera Lex, recla RAT10, naturæ congruens, disfusia in omnes, constans, sempiterna. Huic legi nec promulgari fas est, neque derogari ex hac aliquid licet, neque tota abrogari poresti..... Nec erit alia Romæ, alia Athenis, alia nune, alia posthac. Sed omnes Gentes, & omni tempore una Lex, & sempiterna, & immutabilis continebit. Tull. de Rep. L. 3. preserv'd by Lactant. L. 3. c. 6

[2]

Where Truth was almost felt as well as seen, (Perception half) and scarce a mist between:

Where homage strove in praise and pray'r t'adore,
By one to honour, and by one implore;
While Temp'rance cropt the herb, and mixt the bowl,
And health warm'd sense, and sense sublim'd the soul.

Fear was not then; nor malady, nor age; 15
Nor publick hatred, nor domestick rage;—
No fancy'd want, no lust of taste decreed
The honest oxe to groan, the lamb to bleed:
No earth-born Pride had snatch'd th' Almighty's rod,
O'erturn'd the balance, or blasphem'd the God; 20
No Vice, (for vice is only truth deny'd)
Nurs'd Ignorance, or Nature's voice bely'd.

Hail blissful pair! whose fense if farther wrought, Had weaken'd, stretch'd, and agoniz'd the thought:

Created both to know and to possess:

What we, unhappy, can but barely guess;

Truth to survey in clearest lights arrang'd,

'Ere frauds were form'd to rules, or words were 'Ere ev'ry act a double aspect bore,

Chang'd,

Or doubts, intending well, perplext us more.

You

[3]

You faw the Source of actions and the End:
Why things are opposite, and why they blend;
How from eternal causes good and ill
Subsist; how mingle, yet are different still.
How Modes unnumber'd soften and unite;

35
How strength of falshood glares, and strength of light.

Half of the God came open to your view:
You hail'd his presence, and his voice you knew:
That God, whose light is Truth, whose vast extent
Of pleasure, Good — felf-form'd and self-content!
Unhurt by years, unlimited by place,
At once o'erslowing Time, and Thought, and Space!

By knowing him, you knew him to be Best:
(For the first Attribute infers the rest,)
Knew from his Mind why boundless Virtue rose, 45
Why his unerring Will that virtue chose,
Not something sep'rate (as the Desst dreams)
To circumscribe his pow'r, contract his schemes;
For Reason, tho'it binds th' immortal will,
Is but a portion of the Godhead still;*

50
This learn, ye Wits, by sacred myst'ry aw'd,
And know, that God is only guide to God! †

* Quod quaris, Deus est -- Manil. L. 4. + Ille, Legis hujus Inventor, Disceptator, Lator. Tull. de Rep. preserv'd by Lact.

[4]

This the First knew, their heart, their knowledge Their reason perfect, as their frame could bear; [clear, Till lust of change and more than mortal pride 55 Infring'd the law, the penalty defy'd:

Curst by themselves in Eden's blest abodes, Possessing all, yet raging to be Gods:

Thence Sin unnerv'd the sense, obscur'd the soul, And still encreas'd, like rivers as they roll:

60 For Nature once deprav'd, like motion crost, Ne'er of her self can gain the Pow'rs she lost.

But here the moderns eagerly dispute, -

- " Why in a state of knowledge absolute,
- "(Where unmixt truth came naked to the view, 6,
- " And the first glance could pierce all nature thro':)
- " God should an Edict positive decree
- "And guard so strict th' inviolable Tree?
- "This were, for trifles, sagely to contend,
- "To barter truth for show, for means the end. 70
  Agreed: But first our mighty sect should prove

God has no Title to our faith or love: *
To awe submissive, reverential fear,

To hope, to homage, to the grateful tear;

* 'ANJA μός το ΘΕΙΟΝ ΑΝΕΝΔΕΕΣ. al Al TIMAI τος ΗΜΕΤΕΡΑΣ ΩΦΕΛΕΙΑΣ

VIRA γίγκογια. Sident de Deo, e. 15.

That truth omniscient may fometimes deceive, That all-wise bounty knows not what to give; First let the Critics of the Godhead make Such Theorems clear, and then this Answer take. 80

That Adam, tho' all Moral truth he faw,
Yet scarce a Motive had t'infringe that Law:
How could he honour other Gods than one?
How change a spirit into sculptur'd stone?
How, the first morning Life inform'd his frame, 85
Durst he profane his Maker's facred name!
How without Parents could intemp'rate rage,
Spurn the hoar head, or mock the tears of age?
Why should he covet? when supremely blest—
Or why defraud? When all things he possess—
The bridal Bed for whom should he deceive?
Or whom assassin, but his much-lov'd Eve?—
Hence 'twas that man by Positives was try'd;
And hence behold the Godhead justify'd.

Add, that the Reasoning Faculty of man 95 Serv'd not as now, when Adam first began: Much tho' he saw, yet little had he try'd, Nor known Experience, Nature's surest guide:

See

See then, a previous cause and reason giv'n
Why a Reveal'd Instinct should come from heav'n, 100
Which op'd at once the natures and the powr's
Of earth, air, sea, beasts, reptiles, fruits, and flow'rs.—

Effects, as yet un-caus'd, thence Adam knew, The rage of poisons, and the balms of dew:

Smil'd when the gen'rous courser paw'd the plains, 105

Yet shun'd the tygress, and her beauteous stains:

Nurst the soft Dove that slumber'd on his breast,

Nor touch'd the Dipsa' poison-slaming crest.

How had he trembled in that bleft abode,
Had not his Sov'reignty been taught by God? ILO
Or how, unlicens'd, durft he wanton, tread
Ev'n the green Infect in its herbal bed?
For Life, like Property, is no man's flave,
And only He can reaffume, that gave.

[This by the way:] The history of the Fall, And how the first-form'd loins contain'd us all, Dread points! which none explain, and few conceive, We wave for ever, Doctors, by your leave. Ethnics and Christians a Corruption grant;

120
The Manner How, still wicked Wits may want.

So, if they doubt what, Sound, or Vision be? Thence let em prove we cannot hear, nor fee

'Spite of their Mock'ry also, plain is this,

That no man had a plea to Adam's bliss.

Grant that the Parent wastes a wast Estate — 125

Is he for that, just object of our hate,

Provided all remains that Use requires,

Or Need can crave, for Ends and for Desires?

To point out Evil, Virtue's heights to reach,

This life to soften, or the next to teach?

Shall Man, because he wants a Seraph's flame,
Not taste the Joys proportion'd to his frame?

Knowledge enough for Use, for Pride is giv'n;

Strong, but not Sensitive as truth in heav'n;

Clear, yet adapted to the mental Sight;

135

For too much truth o'erpow'rs as too much light.

REASON, like Virtue in a Medium lies;
A hairs-breadth more might make us mad not wife,
Out-know ev'n Knowledge, and out-polish Art,
Till Newton drops down giddy — a Descartes! 140
For Reason like a King who thirsts for Pow'r,
Leaves Realms unpeopled, while it conquers more

Admit our eye-fight, as the Lyax's, clear; Admit our eye-fight, as the Lyax's, clear; Admit Tattain the distant, we o'ershoot the near:

[For Art too nice, like Tubes reverst, extends 145
Things beyond things, till ev'n the object ends.]

Hence Nature, like Alcides, saw 'twas sit admit to fix th' extremest stretch of human Wit:

Wit, like an Infect clamb'ring up a ball,

Mounts to one point, and then of course must fall, 150

No wiser, if its pains proceed, than end, 110, 111

And all its Journey only to descend!

The Queftion is not therefore, how much light God's Wisdom gives us, but t'exert it right:

Enough remains for ev'ry social End,

Then call not Knowledge narrow, friend:

Then call not Knowledge narrow, Heav'n unkind,
One Curse there is, 'tis Wantonness of Mind.—

No human Plummets can Abysses found;
Agreed; yet rocks they reach and shelving ground;
Thus Reason, where 'tis dang'rous, steers us right, 160
And then dissolves amidst the Abyss of Light.

'Tis Reason finds th' Horrizon's glimm'ring line Where realms of Truth and realms of Error join:

Views

Views its own Hemisphere with thankful eyes, 165 Thinks Nature good in that which she denies; While Pride amidst the vast abrupt must foar—Alas, to fathom God is to be more!

Then dare be wife, into thy felf descend. Sage to some purpose, studious to some end; 170 Search thy own heart, the Well where knowledge lies; Thence (not from higher earth) we catch the skies; Leave Mystry to the Seraph's purer thought Which takes in Truth, as forms by streams are caught: Leave Lust to brutes whose unhurt sense is such, 175 That ten fold transport thrills at ev'ry touch: Holding the middle fphere where Reason lies, Than these more temp'rate, as than those less wife. Each pow'r of Animals in each degree, Ev'n fecond Instict, Knowledge is to thee: 180 Th' effect as certain, tho' the birth more flow, For like the Rofe it must expand and blow: Time must call forth the manhood of the mind; + By study strengthen'd and by taste refin'd:

** 'Erdon Bhára, "Erdon & HHTH en alfall. Sec. M. Anton. L. 7.

† Præterea gigni pariter cum corpore, & una
Creferer fentimus (pariterque fenefeere) mentem.
Inde ubi robuftis adolevit viribus ætas,
Confilium quoque majus, & auctior eft animi Vis. Lucret. L. 3

D

Its Action open, as its Purpose true, Slow to refolve, but constant to pursue; Weeded from passion, prejudice, and pride, Mod'rate to all, yet steady to one side. Such once was KNIGHT: In word, in action clear; Ev'n in the last recess of thought sincere; Grace without Titles, Virtuous without Show, Learn'd without Pride, and Just without a Foe; Alike Humane, to pity, or impart; The coolest head, and yet the warmest heart. O early lost! With ev'ry Grace adorn'd! By me, (fo Heav'n ordains it) always mourn'd; In Life's full joy, and Virtue's faireft bloom Untimely check'd, and hurry'd to the Tomb: Torn ev'n from Her whom all the world approv'd, More Bleft than man, and more than man Belov'd!

How few, like thee, truth's arduous paths can tread, Trace her flow ftreams, and tafte them at their head? See how fcarft fages, and pale schoolmen roam From Art to Art? their Mind a Void at home. For oft our Understanding apes our eyes, 205 Forgets itself, tho'all things it describes.

1 ,

Minds

Minds like true Pictures are by diftance prov'd, And Objects proper, only is remov'd.

Yet Reason has a fund of charms t'engage. Art, ftudy, meditation, youth, and age: Beauty which must the Slave, the Monarch strike, Homage which paid not injures both alike; 24 die Virtue at once to please and to befriend (Great Nature's clue, observant of its end) Such were the paths the rubric Antients trod; 215 The friends of Virtue, and the * friends of God.

Science like this, important and divine, The good man offers Reason, at thy shrine: Sees Thee, God, Nature, (well explain'd) the same: Not chang'd when thought on, varying but in name; Sees whence each aptitude, each difference springs, How thought ev'n acts and meaning lives in things: Or elfe examines at less studious hours The Thinking Faculty, its fource, its powr's: How, stretch'd like Kneller's canvas first it lies 225 'Ere the foft tints awake, or outlines rife:

* Wisd. of Sol. c. vii. v. 27.
+ Quid enim aliud est Natura quam Deus & Divina Ratio toti mundo, & partibus inferta? Senec.

How, till the Finishing of thrice seven years,
The Master-Figure Reason scarce appears:
Sighs to survey a Realm by right its own,
While Passion, [sierce co-heir] usurps the throne; 230
A second Nero, turbulent in sway,
His Pleasure, Noise, his Life one stormy Day;
Headstrong in love, and headstrong too in hate,
Resolv'd tenslave the Mob, or sink the State;
Sad sarce of pow'r, sad anarchy of things,
Where brutes are subjects, and where tyrants kings.

Yet in this infant state, by stealth, by chance,
Th' increasing mind still feels a slow advance,
Thro' the dark Void ev'n gleams of Truth can shoot,
And love of Liberty upheave at root.

240
No more the tender seeds unquicken'd lie,
But stretch their form and wait for wings to sly:
Sensation first, the groundwork of the whole,
Deals ray by ray each image to the soul:
Perception true to ev'ry nerve receives

245
The various impulse, now exults, now grieves!
Thought works and ends, and dares afresh begin;
So whirlpools pour out streams, and suck them in;
That

That Thought romantic Memory detains In unknown cells and in aereal chains; 250 Imagination thence her flow'rs translates; And Fancy emulous of God, creates: Experience flowly moving next appears, Wife but by habit, judging but from years; Till Knowledge comes, a wife and gen'rous heir, 225 And opes the Reservoir averse to spare: And, Reason rises, the Newtonian Sun, Moves all, guides all, and all fustains in one, Bright Emanation of the Godhead hail, 260 Fountain of living lustre, ne'er to fail; As none deceiving, so of none deceiv'd:* Beheld, and in the act of Sight believed, In Truth, in Strength, in Majesty array'd, No Change to turn thee, and no Cloud to shade! Such in ber felf is REASON -: Deift fay, What hast thou here t'object, t'explain away? Think'it thou thy Reason this unerring Rule? Then live a madman - and yet die a fool! * At neque decipitur Ratio, neque decipit unquam. MANIL.

* At neque decipitur Ratio, neque decipit unquam. MANIL. + Ratio Diis Hominibusque communis: hæe in illis consummata est, in nobis consummabilis. Szuge, Epist.

God gave us Reason as the Stars were giv'n, Not to discard the Sun, but mark out Heav'n; At once a Rule of Faith, if well employ'd, A Source of Pleasure, if aright enjoy'd. And Point, round which th' eternal error lies Of fools too credulous, and wits too wife; A faithful guide to comfort and to fave, 275 Till the Mind floats, like Peter on the wave: Then bright-ey'd Hope descends, of heav'nly birth, And Faith, our Immortality on Earth, A Saviour speaks! lo darkness low'rs no more, And the husht billows sleep against the shore. If this be hardfhip, let the dying heir Spurn back his father's aid, and curfe his care? If this be cruel, partial, or unwife, Then perish infidel, and God despise!

Nor flows it hence, that Revelation's force 285 Chains Reafon down, or thwarts it in its courfe: Since Obligation, first of Moral ties Binds thus, and yet no Tyranny implies: We grant that men th' eternal motive see, Yet motive, where there's choice, still leaves them free:

True

True Liberty was ne'er by License gain'd, 291
Nor are Liege-subjects Slaves because restrain'd;*
Restriction shows the check, but none creates;
So Prescience sinds, but not necessitates.

Yet still the Wits with partial voice exclaim, 295 What art thou Truth? what Knowledge? but a name. In short, are Mortals free, or are they bound? Tell us, is Reason something, or a sound.

Friends its agreed: Behold the gen'rous part,
My foul at once unfolded, and my heart;
Too brave to be by Superstition aw'd,
And yet too modest to confront the God;
Chain'd to no int'rest, bigot to no cause,
Slave of no hope, preferment, or applause!
For those who cleave to Truth for Virtue's sake, 305
Enjoy all party-good, yet nothing stake.

Thou then, O Source of uncreated Light, Hallow my lips, and guard me whilft I write!

First in that Pow'r, [to whose eternal thought No outward object e'er one image brought, 313 The part, the whole, the sce-er and the seen, No distance, inserence, or act between:]

REA-

- &quot; Adeirco omnes Legum Servi sumus, ut liberi esse possimus. Tull.

REASON prefides, diffusing thence abroad
Thro'truth, thro'things-the Test, the Point of God.*

As perfect Reason from the Godhead springs,
(And still unchang'd if perfect;) so from Things, 316
Truths, Actions—in their kind and their degree
Starts real meaning, difference, harmony.
These all imply a Reason, Reason still
A Duty, good if sought, if sought not, ill;
Hence in the chain of causes, Virtue, Vice,
And thence Religion, take their gen'ral rise.

God first creates, the refrence, nature, force
Of things created must result of course;
As well might Sense its evidence disclaim,
Or Chance sketch out Earth's, Heav'ns stupendous
As well might Motion to be Rest consent,
[frame,
As well might Matter fill without extent,
As things (instead of being what they ought,)
Sink into hazard, whim, caprice, or nought,
339

* Deus totus, Ratio est. Senec. nat. quæst. L. 1

+ Est profecto aliquid Natura pulchrum asque præclarum, quod fponte sua peteresur, quodque spresa & contempta voluptate, optimus quisque sequeretur. Tull. de Senect.

Quodque Vere dicimus, etiamfi a nullo laudetur, Natura est laudabile. Idem de Offic.

Etenim illud ipfum quod Honeftum Decorumque dicimus per fe nobis placet, animofque onnium Natura & fpecie fua commowet. Ibid. L. 2. c. 9.

"""" 10 A ATAON I de airl ETTOT ENERA " airsty x' airsepst. Airl. Reb. e. 6.

Hence

Hence in each art the Great, the Glorious warms, For Science only copies Moral Charms, * Mysterious excellence! the dome, the draught, The lay, the confort fwell upon the thought.

The Mind to nobler beauty thence proceeds, 335 The union, colouring, and force of deeds; Swells in the hero's cause with vast esteem, Pants for the Patriot, and would more than feem. Labours with Brutus in the stern Decree, Yet whispers 'midst his tears, O Rome be free! 340 Envies at Utica the Stoic fword. Or bleeds at Carthage, Martyr to its word!

These truths congenial, nor devis'd tho' found, Live in each age, and shoot from evr'y ground: Bloom or on Albion's, or on India's coast, Midst Abissinia's flames, or Zembla's frost.

"Yet still the Wits and Moralists exclaim "That Virtue's casual oft, and oft a name:

Atil. Regulus, Horat. L. 3. Ode 5. ‡ Le Mothe cule Sceptique. Le Mothe Locke's Human Understand. 1. c. 3.

A size

* Ita quod non potest in Veritate fieri, id [Antiqui] non putaverunt, in imaginibus factum, poste certam Rationem habere. Omnia enim certa proprietate & a veris Naturæ deductis Moribus traduxerunt in operum persectiones, & ea probayerunt quorum explicationes in Disputationibus Rationem possum possum probayerunt quorum explicationes in Disputationibus Rationem possum probayerunt propositionibus Rationem possum probayerunt probayerunt probayerunt probayerunt probayerunt probayerunt quorum explicationes in Disputationibus Rationem possum probayerunt quorum explicationes in Disputationibus Rationem probayerunt quorum explicationes in Disputationes in Disputationibus Rationem probayerunt quorum explicationes in Disputationes in Disputationes in Disputationes in Disputationes in D

'Tis his, t'improve good fense, but none create, Ty'd down to spend no more than his estate: 390 To strike no notion out, no truth deduce, But just as nature sow'd the seeds for use.

This instance urg'd and drawn from mental pow'rs, Earth each day testifies in trees and flow'rs: Culture with skill, and science join'd with toil, 395 Teach Persia's peach to bloom in Albion's soil, As truly nature's produce here, as there In its own funshine and its spicy air. -For truth, like earth made barren by the fall, Just as men labour, tribute pays to all: Plain, if kind Heav'n two bleffings shall impart, A reasonable head, and upright heart: For plainness rises in a giv'n degree As men are honest, and as men can see: Quarles may be harder to th' unletter'd clown 405 Than Hed'lin, or Boffu to wits in town. What's Ethic to the true pains-taking man, Who never thinks and cheats but all he can? What's Sh**ry's hairs-breadth morals at the Change? Or Tindal's fitness at Philemon's Grange? 410

Digital by Google

Or folid Reasining to the headstrong youth, His Tutor, Pain, Experiment his Truth?

In short, one sentence may the whole discuss — As we with TRUTH, TRUTH coincides with us:

This boults the matter fairly to the bran,

And nothing more wits, bards, deans, doctors can.

NATURE like God, ne'er felt the least decay; But human nature has, and oft she may: Full in the child th' unsinew'd sire appears, More weak by growth, more infantine by years; 420 And ductile vice each new impression takes, Passive as air, with ev'ry motion shakes.

Like fome true Roman Dome Mankind appears, The pile impair'd, but not o'erwhelm'd by years; Ev'n the remains strength, beauty, use impart, 425 And, faint, or rough, are equal proofs of art: Yet nothing but the first-creating hand Shall fill the shadowy lines, or new command, Bid the stretch'd roof to swell, the arch to bend, The wings to widen, and the front extend! 430 Yet as true madmen, most their friends suspect; So Wits for this, shall ev'n their God reject!

G Not

Not that my verse Right Reason would controll, True Freedom limit, or contract the Soul: Th' exchange were one to bigotry from pride, 435 A hairs-breadth ferves to join them, or divide; Yet proper decencies must still be had, Not meanly pious we, nor vainly mad: Reason, like Israel, Horeb's place descries, But if the gazes wantonly, the dies; If well-attemper'd, her ethereal light Will fix our flippery steps, and gild our night: Or else at most we run a rash, career, Or fare like pilots, who by meteors steer; For, like a mark she's faithful to the view, 445 But just as distance, force, and aim are true: Then guide, and judge, and guardian of our ways, Test of our deeds, and umpire of our praise, Source of our joy, and bound'ry of our grief. Anchor of hope, and pilot of belief! 450 True to the clear, unbiaft, humble foul. Which trembling feeks her, as the fteel its pole! Yet ah, how few ev'n antient times beheld, (When Greece and Rome in arms and arts excel'd)

Who

Who thro' life's maze the steps of Nature trod, 455 Reason their guide, and Truth their unknown God? The Stagyrite, who bold to heav'n could foar, Trembled at last to die, and be no more; Gods, angels, glories op'd on Plato's view, Yet judgment quench'd the slames which rapture blew: Midst myriads, who but Socrates appears

461
The birth, pride, effort of three thousand years!

Nothing the rest, or worse than nothing meant, God was but Chance, and Virtue but Consent,*

At best the Hero's was an impious name:

465

Free Patriots while they bled were slaves to same;

Ev'n Hell was fable, and their blest abodes

Of Brutes a Synod, or a Mob of Gods!

What Bramin yet, what Sage of Rome or Greece
E'er form'd one moral System of a piece?

470
Or half an Altar rais'd, or Duty paid,
Unmix'd with rituals, homage, myst'ry, shade?
He therefore best infers who steers by fact,
And weighs not Reason's Pow'r, but Folly's At:

* Non Philosophorum Judicia, sed delirantium somnia. Tull. de Nat.

Which

Which of those godlike antients ever drew
The Whole of Ethics justly round and true?*

Had Mission or to prophecy or preach?

Sanction t'excite, Authority to teach?

Nay ev'n their Rule of Morals and of Life
Was often wrong, various, oft at ftrife—

20 in 6 States Pain for the William Science Associated and Science Associated As

'Gainst State or Priest they little durst impart,
Their lips scarce breath'd the truths that scorch'd
their heart:

Hence Samos' Sage the current faith advis'd,
Hence Plato trim'd his Creeds, and temporiz'd,
And Greece for †one man's head in holy rage, 485
[A ftrange example in that mod'rate age]
More Art employ'd, more Premiums iffu'd forth,
Than all our modern Deifts heads are worth.

Nay half the fource of most the antients knew, From Noah they, as He from Eden drew: 49° Whence Truth in secret pipes to Memphis past, Thence strain'd thro' Jewry water'd Asia last.

* Veritatem & divinæ Religionis Arcanum Philofophi attigerunt, fed aliis refellentbus, defendere id quod invenerant, nequiverunt, quia fingulis ratio non quadravit, nec ea, quæ vera fenferant, in fummam redigere potuerant. Lactant, de div. Præm.

+ Diagoras.

So Nilus wanders mystic in its flow,

And Columns tost from Tempé feed the Po.

Now too, Wit's Titans spite of all their boast, 495
But combat God with his own arms at most:
The truths they boast of, and the rules they know,
Seen not, or own'd not, first from Scripture slow.
So painters us'd to copy, seem t'invent,
Of aid unconscius, and in thest content.

Faith strikes the light, but pride assumes the same.
Sure, like th' oblig'd t'efface her Patron's name:
For as when vig'rous breezes drive a fleet,
(Solid herself and fixt:) So here 'tis Thus;

Solid herself and fixt:) So here 'tis Thus;

For ah, ev'n here where life a journey runs, Blest with new day-light and with nearer suns: Virtue's dim lights by God's own hand supplied, With Sanction strengthen'd, honour'd with a Guide, How sew (except instructed first and led) 511 Can thrid the Maze, or touch the Fountain's head?

Obferve

<sup>Qua vehimur navi, fertur, cum stare videtur:
Quæ manet in Statione, ea præter ereditur ire;
Et fugere ad puppim colles, campique videntur. Lucket. L. 4.</sup>

Observe a Mean 'twixt Bigotry and Pride, Hit the strait way, or err not in the wide? If Reason then scarce finishes the Best, 515 Th' unbiast Few, how fares it with the Rest? Where Error holds at least a dubious sway. A war of thoughts, and twilight of a day;* Where Prepossession warps the ductile mind, Where blindfold Education leads the blind: 520 Where Int'rest biasses, ill Customs guide, And firong Defires pour on us like a tide. Where Indolence is never at a Loss. But faunters on to Heav'n, a Saint in groß: Where Wit must mince a Gnat (its throat fo fmall:) Where Ignorance an Oftrich gorges all; 526 Where Zeal her unknown vow of fury keeps, And Superstition like an Idiot weeps; Where Persecution lifts its iron rod, Bad for good ends, the butcher of the God: Where Pride still list'ning to herself appears. New forms earth's orbit, and new rolls the spheres,

Holds

* Homo non uta Matre, sed ut a Noverea, Natura editus est in vitam ... in quo tamen inest tanquam obrutus, quidam divinus Ignis ingenii & mentis. Tull. de Rep. L. 3. Preservid by St. Austin, Contr. Pel. L. 4.

(27)

Holds ev'n th' Almighty in her airy chain, Gives back his laws, well meant, but meant in vain: Its bravery at best a blund'ring hit, 535 Its freedom treason, obloquy its wit; Its vast request just purely to declaim, And the dear little license - to blaspheme; -Say, can cool Virtue here diffuade from ill? Or exil'd Reason - Pandar to the Will? -540 At most a Voice or Miracle may fave, And only Terrors fnatch us from the grave! Suppose [tho' we disown it oft to be] Man from these Errors and these Passions free; Well taught by Art, by Nature well inclin'd, Steady of Judgment, tractable of Mind, The first step's his, (the giving folly o'er,) The last, to practice truth, is ten times more.

Ah me, what lengths of valley yet remain, What hills to climb, 'ere Reasan's height he gain? 550 What strength to toil, what labour to pursue, Still out of reach, and often out of view!

Then gracious God, how well dost thou provide For erring Reason an unerring Guide!

To

To filence Explanation [Mystry's foe,]
To lead the tim'rous, and exalt the low;
Ev'n to the best, [as all are oft perplext]
Instructive, as true Comments to a text.

. .

555

Then let each hour's new whim the Witlings swell, Heav'n let 'em tutor, and extinguish hell: 560 Refuse to trust Omniscience on its troth, Yet take a lawyer's Word, or harlot's Oath; Then Bigots, when 'gainst Bigots they complain, And only singular, because they're vain. *

Grant none but they the narrow path can hit — 565 When will two Wits allow each other Wit?

Far other views the folid mind employ,
A bounded prospect, but a surer joy:—
True Knowledge when she conquers or abstains,
Like the true Hero, equal glory gains.

57°
This, this is Science, sacred in its end,
True to the views of heav'n, one's self, and friend:
The carliest study, as the latest care,
The surest resuge, and the only pray'r.

"Othou

* Cæterum profana Philosophiæ turba imperitorum, vana Sanctitudinis, priva veræ rationis, inops religionis, impos veritaris, scrupulosissimo cultu, infolentissimo spretu Deos negligit, pars in Supersitionem, pars in contemptum, timida, vel tumuda. Apul de Deo Socr.

| " O Thou, the God, who high in Heav'n prefides,      |    |
|--|----|
| " Whose eye o'ersees me, and whose wisdom guides,    |    |
| " Deal me that Portion of Content and Rest,          |    |
| "That unknown Health, and Peace, which fuit me best  | :  |
| " Save me from all the Guilt, and all the Pain,      |    |
| "That lust of pleasure brings, and lust of gain; 580 | )  |
| "In Trial fix me, and in Peril shade,                |    |
| "'Gainst Foes protect me, 'gainst my Passions aid;   |    |
| "In Wealth my guardian, and in Want my guide,        |    |
| "'Twixt a mean Flattery, and drunken Pride:          |    |
| "With Life's more dear Sensations warm my heart,     |    |
| "Transport to feel, Benevolence t'impart, 580        | 5  |
| "Each homefelt Joy, each publick Duty fend,          |    |
| "Make me, and give me, all things in the Friend!     |    |
| "But most protect and guard me in a Mind,            |    |
| "Not rashly bold, nor abjectly resign'd: 59          | 0  |
| "And oh, when Interest ev'ry Virtue hides,           |    |
| "When Error blinds, and Prejudice mifguides,         |    |
| "Alike thy Grace, alike thy Truth impart,            |    |
| "Beam on my Soul, and triumph o'er my Heart!         |    |
| "Thus let me live unheard of, or forgot, 59          | _  |
| "My wealth Content, praise Silence, truth my Lot     | ;  |
| I "Th  | 17 |

"Thy Word, O God! my Science and Delight,

"Task of my Day, and Transport of my Night:

"There taught, that he who suffers is but try'd,

"And he who wanders, still may find a guide, 600.

"Sanction with Truth, Reward with Virtue join'd,

"Life without end, and Laws that reach the mind!

"Happy the Man, that fuch a Guide can take,

"Whose Character is, never to for sake!

Define quapropter novitate exterritus ipsa, Expuere ex animo Rationem, sed magis acri Judicio perpende, & si tibi vera videtur Dede manus, aut si salsa est, accingere contra. Lucret. L. 2.

BOOK S lately Printed.

HE Essay on Man in Quarto and Folio, in the same Sizes with Mr. Pope's Homer and Works.

Two Satires of the Second Book of Horace imitated, likewife

in the same Sizes.

Of False Taste, by Mr. Pope.

Of the Use of Riches, Do

Of the Knowledge and Characters of Men, Do

A New Edition of the Dunciad in Octavo, with Notes and Epigrams.

The Man of Tafte, Price 1 s.

The Art of Politicks, Price 1 s.

Harlequin Horace, Price 1 s. 6 d. with large Additions and explanatory Notes

An Epiftle from Rome to Mr. Pope.

The Progress of Love in four Epistles, Price 6 d.

Stow: The Gardens of the Lord Cobham, Price 6 d.

Two Epistles to Mr. Pope, concerning the Authors of the prefent Age, by the Author of the Universal Passion.

The Merchant: A Poem by the same Author.

Athelwold, a Tragedy; by A. Hill, Efq;

Darius's Feast: Or the Force of Truth, a Poem on the four Strongest Things.

Just Publish'd,

An Epiftle from Mr. Pope to Dr. Arbuthnot, being an Apology for himself and Writings.

Of the Characters of WOMEN.

Thoughts upon the four last Things, a Poem in four Parts, Part 1, DEATH: Part 2, JUDGMENT.

